District Court.

The third week of the district court convened at the court house Monday. This was made necessary by the reconvened grand jury returning indictments against Munro and Bernier, the two prisoners arrested and returned here from Sanderson after the adjournment of the first session of the grand jury.

The following business not heretofore reported, was disposed of by the court:

G. F. Adams vs. R. B. Teel. Bond for costs required and case continued to next term.

Mrs. N. Stricker vs. V. B. Hodge et al. Same order as above.

A. B. Thompson vs. Willie Frances Thompson, divorce; Georgia M. Morris vs. T. H. Morris, divorce; Tins Foundry Co. vs. Chas. Becker et al.; Elsie F. Hokit vs. J. H. Hokit, divorce, were all continued pending the filing of bonds for costs.

A. D. Hotchkiss vs. Louis Schorp and Joe Spettel, dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

The cases of The State vs. Gabe Haby; and The State vs. August Kreisch, were transferred to the county court.

The State vs. E. C. Pruitt, transferred to Justice's court, Precinct No. 5.

The cases of Jno. T. Briscoe vs. J. H. Bright, administrator; and Mrs. A. L. Ray vs. J. H. Bright, administrator, were continued pending the action of the court of appeals.

Claude W. Gilliam et al. vs. John W. Gaines, continued to perfect service.

E. A. Parsons vs. Unknown Heirs of Wm. H. Patton, deceased; judgment for plaintiff.

Adams Co. vs. O. F. Spear; judgment for plaintiff for $1,430.52, with interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum.

Adams Co. vs. L. F. Price, M. A. Keller, J. W. Fullerton and C. A. Hornburg; judgment for plaintiff for $2,994.78, with interest at 6 per cent.

Adams National Bank vs. W. C. Redus and Celia Redus. Dismissed as to Celia Redus. Judgment for plaintiff against W. C. Redus for $1,999.97 and foreclosure of mortgage.

F. S. Cockrell vs. Carmen Redus, partition; granted and Joe Ney, B. R. Bradley and L. E. Heath appointed appraisers. The partition made by appraisers approved by the court.

W. J. Allen, administrator vs. Adams Co.; perpetuating injunction.

L. F. Price vs. Dan W. Huffer, dismissed.

S. R. Ruiz vs. Martin Ruiz and Melicio Caviello vs. Martin Ruiz, dismissed.

Ernest Kreisle et al. vs. Lillian Pierson et al.; judgment for plaintiffs.

G. F. Adams vs. R. B. Teel, continued.

John Balzen vs. Elizabeth Balzen, divorce; granted.

Agnes Littleton et al. vs. Martin Wilkins et al., partition. Joe Ney was appointed receiver of the undivided property with instructions to dispose of same and make settlement with the various interested parties.

State vs. John C. Munro, burglary; plea of guilty entered and punishment assessed at 2 years in penitentiary.

State vs. John C. Munro, theft of over $50 value; plea of guilty entered and punishment assessed at 3 years in the penitentiary.

State vs. R. J. Bernier, burglary; plea of guilty entered and punishment assessed at 2 years in the penitentiary. Another case against the last named defendant was dismissed by the state owing to the youth of the defendant, he being but a little over 17 years of age, and the further fact that he turned state evidence, enabling the state to perfect its case against John C. Munro, the elder defendant. These are the parties who were arrested at Sanderson last week and returned here. They were charged with burglarizing the Lacoste drug store.

In the damage case of W. H. Koehler vs. W. L. Dubose et al., tried the first week of the court, the plaintiff being awarded $50 damages, a motion by defendants for a new trial was overruled. No notice of appeal had been given up to adjournment of court.

A number of tax suits where settlements had been made were dismissed, and in others where settlements have not been made the cases were continued to the next term of court to perfect service.

After the minutes of the court had been practically completed and ready for signing a case styled M. A. Keller, contestant, vs. Henry Crutchfield, contestee, was placed on the docket. This is a case contesting the election to the office of commissioner of the town of Devine. This case was of necessity continued to the next term of court.

The court adjourned for the term Tuesday afternoon.

The approximate expense of the term was $1,193.35—somewhat less than the last term.

Alex Oberg, Theodore Niest and Francisco Hernandez, were turned over to the contractor Wednesday morning and started on their way to the penitentiary. John C. Munro and R. J. Bernier will be turned over to the sheriff of Uvalde county where there are charges pending against them.

Frances Neuman Wins.

Austin, Texas, April—Among the winners in the state spelling contest of the University of Texas Inter-scholastic League Medina County is represented by Frances Neuman of the Hondo Public School, contestant and winner in the junior division.

Winning contestants made one hundred percent in this contest, that is, no word of the 360 was misspelled, and each word was so plainly written that the grader found no fault with the entire paper. Papers from practically every county in the state were forwarded to Austin, where they were very rigidly graded. Comparatively few of the thousands of contestants made one hundred percent, and it is therefore an honor for both the school and the individual to send in a perfect paper. A suitable certificate to this effect will be awarded each school producing a one hundred percent winner.

From the results Lavaca, Hill, and Wichita counties seem to be the banner counties for good spellers, since all three are credited with four 100 per cent winners. It is noted that over sixty per cent of papers receiving a perfect grade were in the junior division.

Bless' Homer Wins Opener.

SCORE: HONDO 9—SABINAL 8.

There will be many games played when you, I and the rest of us are too old and worn out to lift a bat. And there will be many games played before we shuffle off this mortal coil. But let me make this one remark. There will never be an opening game played that will equal the game against Sabinal last Wednesday.

The two teams battled like tigers for twelve sensational innings and when the thirteenth inning rolled around, there was scarcely one in the vast crowd of spectators, who had left his place.

Then came the "unlucky thirteenth" and unluckily it was—for Sabinal; for with two out and no one on base, "Booty" Bless lined one over the centre fielder's head for a home run, winning the game and sending every body, but Sabinal and her followers, home happy. It was a tremendous wallop, clearing the rail by many feet and was good for a homer on any field.

Our boys played good ball thruout. Their fielding was rather erratic at the start but when you consider the fact that they have had very little practice and lacked in team work, their play as a whole was entirely satisfying.

Clevenger, a tall right hander, who had a tryout with San Antonio this spring, but who is one of us now, started the game. He displayed lots of smoke and lots of stuff but was handicapped by poor support by his team mates and had to be taken out in the sixth inning.

Our old standby, Merritt, then took the hill and it seemed like a new spirit grasped our boys. From then on they played superbly and, with Merritt's fine pitching, finally conquered.

Sabinal put up a good game and displayed a young pitcher who is destined to make a name for himself in our national game if he chooses to follow it. They had Charley Johnson on first base, and of course a Sabinal team wouldn't look like a Sabinal team without him on it and he fully lived up to his reputation as one of the best men in this section of the country.

Pete Beal, Sham Holloway and Bill Windrow led our boys in fielding. Sham making some wonderful catches in centre field, Bill catching a fine game, and Pete starting the famous triple play.

The team plays Pearsall at Pearsall Friday, and here next Wednesday. Come out and root for them. They need your support.

Wednesday being the 72nd anniversary of Grandma Huegele's birth, her children, grandchildren and sister surprised her with a delightful celebration of the event at her home near Devine. The honoree of the occasion was surprised about 8:30 in the morning by the arrival of several autos bearing a large number of her descendants and their relatives. Soon the purpose of the visit was unfolded and the day given over to enjoyment appropriate to the occasion. The visitors carried well filled baskets of good things to eat and a most sumptuous dinner and supper were served. Those composing the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batot and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Huegele and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Huegele and family, Mr. Beno Huegele, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Birthday Party.

Saturday evening, April 30, a number of youngsters gathered at the school house at 7 o'clock and were chaperoned by Mrs. Harry Crouch to the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor, Saturday being the 13th birth anniversary of their daughter, Rhoda Mae. She entertained these youngsters with a party on the lawn, which was well lighted for the occasion. The evening was spent in games and music.

It was getting late when the hostess led them to the dining room which was beautifully decorated in our National colors and the table laden with several different kinds of cake and lemonade. After eating to their hearts' content they all bade good night declaring their hostess the best of entertainers.

Those who enjoyed the affair were: Jerry Fusselman, Ina Holloway, Mary Isabel Crouch, Frances Newman, Gertrude Sauter, Evelyn Griffin, Rhoda Mae Taylor, Eve Harvey Wilson, Rudolph Rath, "Buster" Schuehie, Harry Laughinghouse, Carl Green, Earl Earnest, Jack Bradley, Chancey King, Lomer Favor, Jack Campbell, John Henry Meyer, Preston Gaines, Horace Crow, Ermon Taylor.

you must choose
The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"*

CONSIDER your object in buying a phonograph. It is to bring true music to your home—the living performances of great singers and instrumentalists, of great bands and orchestras.

Over five thousand times, before more than five million people, the New Edison has stood side by side with the living artist in a direct comparison test, and no one has been able to distinguish between the living performance and the RE-CREATED performance.

The New Edison is the only phonograph or talking machine that sustains this test. It is the only phonograph that has actually proved beyond question that it gives you true music.

STICK-TIGHT FLEA.

Habits and Control Suggestions.

It is difficult to kill out an infestation of this insect after it has once gained a heavy infestation of a place, this is especially true where the infestations are in places not easy of access. The fleas breed on chickens, dogs and cats and select their hosts in preference about as named; they will breed on rabbits if they are kept. The adults attach to the hosts and remain attached for most part from one to three or more weeks. During this time they are continually feeding on the blood of the host and developing eggs (from one to four or five each day.) Probably the greater number of eggs are deposited during the night while the host is on the roost or in their beds. The egg has the shape of a hen's egg and is about the size of the point of a common pin; it is a shining white and is easily found under roosts where the infestation is heavy or in places where the hosts rest during the day as under buildings.

After a few days the egg hatches into a small worm and in from three to five weeks develops into an adult flea. The young larvae feed on the excreta of the adult and must have a comparatively dry place but needs a certain amount of moisture to develop. The ideal condition for development is found under buildings during cloudy wet weather.

CONTROL MEASURES.

No one method of control can be satisfactorily applied to all conditions but the fact that the life of the larvae is affected by either extreme of moisture or dryness it is possible to use this factor to a great extent in control measures. When a few fleas are observed on fowls they should be kept from all inaccessible places under buildings both day and night (this applies to all susceptible hosts). The roosts and beds should be cleaned and sprayed with crude oil, carbolineum or strong creosote dip every two weeks; the spraying should thoroughly wet all of the ground or floor about the roosts or beds. If the infestation has become heavy and it is accessible to be sprayed use pure carbolineum as a spray and many of the adults will be killed; after spraying clean the place thoroughly and spray lightly again. Under buildings and inaccessible places about 100 pounds of salt to 300 square feet may be thrown in as far as possible and the place flooded with water, the water should cover the ground completely and allowed to stand until the ground is thoroughly wet; good results have been obtained by flooding without salt when the water was left over the entire surface for from four to ten hours. As the adults leave the place when it is flooded they may be killed by spraying lightly with carbolineum. It is doubtful if it is feasible to attempt to kill the fleas on the hosts as most of the remedies are more severe than the fleas; one part of kerosene to four parts of any light oil as cotton seed or machine have been used to some advantage when the host was heavily infested, apply lightly to the fleas.

The most effective control is to keep buildings under penned and use open hen houses, make the dogs and cats sleep at a provided place and clean these places occasionally. Places have been observed with heavy infestations practically beyond control for the season where the infestations might have been prevented by closing a small opening to the under penning of a house early in the season.

Little Eleanor vehemently announced her intention of giving up her French lessons with her governess. Her father, however, was very anxious that the child should learn French and did not intend to humor her.

"She hugs and kisses me to make me do my lessons!—and—ugh!—I do hate lessons!" cried the little girl.

"See here, my dear," returned her father in a reasoning, diplomatic way, "I have read French with your governess ever since she has been here, and she has never tried to hug and kiss me."

"Father," observed the child gravely, "you'd better knock wood."

THRUSH CAME BACK TO MATE

Bird Husband Evidently Traveled Far, But Each Season Returned to His Life Partner.

Do birds mate for life? Mr. W. H. Hudson, the naturalist, discussing the question in his book "Birds of Town and Village," tells an interesting story of a pair of thrushes that were true to their first love.

A woman who lived in Winchester, England, he says, had among her bird pensioners in the garden of her house a female thrush that grew tame enough, to feed at the dining-room table. The thrush, paired and bred for several seasons in the same garden, and each brood of young ones too, were tame and would follow their mother into the house to be fed. But the male was too shy ever to venture in.

The first year that he appeared the woman noticed that he had a wing feather that stuck out, owing probably to a malformation of the socket. Each year after the breeding season the male vanished, and the female remained alone during the winter months; but in the spring the male came back—the same bird with the same unmistakable projecting wing feather. It is certain that he had gone far away; otherwise he would have returned to the garden, where there was food in abundance during the spells of frosty weather. As he did not appear, it is possible that he migrated each year to a warmer climate beyond the sea.

For every purpose for which a liniment is usually applied the modern remedy, Liquid Borozone, will do the work more quickly, more thoroughly and more pleasantly. Price, 30c, 60c and $1.20. Sold by W. H. Windrow.

WAITING.

SERENE, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, or tide, or sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate;
For, lo! my own shall come to me.

I stay my haste, I make delays,
For what avails this eager pace?
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.

Asleep, awake, by night or day,
The friends I seek are seeking me;
No wind can drive my bark astray,
Nor change the tide of destiny.

What matter if I stand alone?
I wait with joy the coming years;
My heart shall read where it has sown,
And garner up its fruit of tears.

The waters know their own and draw
The brook that springs in yonder height;
So flows the good with equal law
Unto the soul of pure delight.

The stars come nightly to the sky;
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.

—John Burroughs.

JOHN BURROUGHS, the author of the above, died a short time ago at an advanced age. He had achieved considerable fame as a naturalist, and the above sentiments are expressive of his gentle, trustful spirit. The world is poorer for his passing.

The soil is the final resting place of all expenses of industry and of government. Let the cat jump which way it will and the farmer loses for he foots the bill. When a body of men can meet anywhere and any time and fix the cost of farming, mark the price-tag on farm products and do it without consulting the farmer, agriculture is in peril. The farmer is the paymaster of civilization and he is the man who pays the freight. How long will he pay the bills without protest?—Ex.

WHAT YOU OR I may believe or disbelieve about anything will not alter or change the truthfulness of fact or the falsity of myth. They stand through the ages what they are, unchanged by the varying opinions that swirl and eddy about them. What one believes or disbelieves does, however, have a tremendous influence over the life and character of the individual. What one believes, that he hopes to find, to achieve. That which one hopes for he strives for. And in striving he grows toward, draws nigher unto. Thus has the beautiful myth of a Santa Claus implanted in the bosoms of tender childhood a spirit of unselfishness that has blessed life beyond measure and filled many hungry hearts to overflowing. So let us strive to believe the good things, the beautiful things and, believing them, try to grow like them. Let us try to shut out of our lives the things that will hinder or dwarf the growth of a wholesome character. A plant compelled to grow out of its natural environment always grows and expands towards the sunlight and the open air. It recoils and draws away from the darkness. So, let us build for ourselves a simple faith in beautiful ideals. Let us grow upward toward the light and the purer atmosphere of these better things. Let us shut out the mean, the sordid and the low. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

THIS is the dull season of the year, as business reckons the seasons, and there is a tendency in every line of endeavor to slacken up, to relax in the pushing and driving that has been putting business forward. This is an unfortunate mistake into which many of us have allowed ourselves to fall as a matter of habit. In business life, as in all other life of which we have any knowledge, there is no such thing as inertia, a standing still. A business is either moving forward towards expansion and development or it is retrograding, slipping back toward decay and death. In which class are you today? Remember, if you are a business man, that some day your tombstone may bear the inscription: "Here lies a successful man". But until you are finally laid beneath such a stone can your success be regarded as actually secured? Success is ever progressive; it is always in the making. You may be making a success today; you may be skyrocketing to failure tomorrow. Your success is never static; it is ever moving somewhere, somehow. If you are one of those whose hand has become palsied from the lethargic spell of "dull times" and are letting your business drift, like a pilotless boat on a Saragosa sea of dead hopes, "buck up", "come alive", and put some spirit into your job! None but a "live one" deserves to be a pilot. Take a reef in your lethargy, furl up your doubts, your fears and your despair, and spread the sails of courage and adventure and take a new tack to the high seas of business enterprise. There may be waves to breast and breakers to avoid. But only the hand that can guide through dangers can be trusted to hold the helm. Any one can be a drifter. We all know the ultimate destiny of drift wood. Take your business out of the drifting class.

Fletcherized Farm Facts

BY FLETCHER DAVIS

We hear much about marketing the farmer's products these days.

Some people appear to think all of his economic ills are due to a faulty system of marketing his produce.

And as soon as many people begin thinking or writing of agricultural topics they develop a severe case of Market Expertitis, and proceed to solve all the farmer's financial ills and remove all his mental worries with a prescription on market matters.

Sometimes the remedy proposed is worse than the affliction, and the farmer, like Shakespeare's Hamlet, finds himself hesitating between enduring the ills he knows or flying to those he knows not of.

In nearly all affairs of life it is usually safest when in doubt to stop—don't do the thing you are in doubt about!

The farmer's marketing problem, like most of his other problems, must be solved by the farmer himself.

Much can be said on the subject of Marketing, but, after all is said, there are just two kinds of markets—a buyer's market and a seller's market.

The farmer has seen himself grow poorer and poorer selling on a buyer's market—a market where the seller must seek the buyer and accept what the buyer offers.

To come into his own the farmer must create a seller's market for his products—a market where the buyer will seek his product and pay what he asks.

Therein lies the simple solution of his market ills.

How can the farmer create this seller's market which is going to cure his market ills?

Here is where we side-step Market Expertitis!

The farmer must find his own solution, out on his own individual farm.

The Rabbit Book.

The Rabbit Book is a practical manual on the care of Belgian Hares, Flemish Giants and other meat and fur producing rabbits, written by Prof. F. S. Washburn, Professor of Economic Vertebrate Zoology at the University of Minnesota. It is a two hundred-page book and contains 83 illustrations, many of them taken from life. It is intended to serve as a guide for the amateur and as a work of reference to the professional.

"While this project may not offer inducements in a business way to the average man, the keeping of rabbits, like the keeping of poultry, is most valuable as a side line. It is work which is easily performed by a woman or a boy of responsible age, and many professional men, broken in health and strength, have found pleasant and health-giving, as well as profitable occupation in caring for from ten to twenty or more of these so-called hares, and using their progeny. With rabbits in a hutch in a backyard a housekeeper need not dread the arrival of unexpected guests to dinner, for she has a supply of excellent meat on hand. Then, too, the hides are well adapted to the purpose of making furs for children; an outgrown coat or muff of rabbit skin may be discarded without any great financial sacrifice. As a further argument for the keeping of rabbits, it may be stated that it is a fine thing for children to have the responsibility of feeding and caring for live animals."

The foregoing is taken from a somewhat lengthy preface to the book. Having thus laid down the advantages of keeping rabbits, Prof. Washburn proceeds, in the twelve chapters that follow, to give instruction and valuable information on Building the Rabbitry and its Management, Purchasing Stock, Strains of Domestic Rabbits and Standards, Cleaning and Disinfecting, Feeding, Breeding, Care of Young, Killing and Dressing, Diseases and Remedies, the Preparing of Skins, Selling, etc., etc.

To talk to people about raising rabbits in a country where wild ones are a nuisance, as they are over much of Texas, may, to many people, seem a worse extravagance than carrying coals to Newcastle or sands to Egypt. But the meat of the domestic hare is of lighter color and more inviting than that of the wild rabbit, and, unlike that of the wild rabbit, is just as good in hot weather as in cold. As wild game disappears from the market and fresh meats of all kind become scarcer and higher in price, as they inevitably must as population becomes denser and pasture for meat producing animals becomes scarcer, these hardy, prolific little animals, whose business it is to eat and grow meat, will fill a more important part in the economic life of the people. They are vegetable eaters, and are generally healthy. There is not a more wholesome flesh eaten by man than is the flesh of the rabbit. When properly cooked it is most appetizing and delicious, it is easily digested and by some is claimed to be more nutritious than beef, pork, mutton or poultry.

The skin of the domestic rabbit is thicker, tougher and more durable than are the skins of the wild rabbits. They have a more attractive coating of fur and are easily tanned, and worked into attractive garments. As man's greed hastens the extermination of our fur bearing animals, the pelts of these pretty pets will become more valuable. They are already a source of considerable profit to those who have mastered the art of preparing them for the trade.

But we have already exceeded our space for the purpose of this review. Get the book and read it. It is sold at $2.00 net by the publishers, J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia.

Austin, Texas, April—Active preparations are being made for the big annual state meet of the University of Texas Inter-scholastic League, to be held at Austin on May 5, 6 and 7. It is announced by Dr. E. D. Shurter, chairman of the Executive committee, that a reduction in railroad rates has been secured for delegates, putting in force a round-trip rate of a fare and a half for all authorized delegates, and one faculty representative from each school participating in the state meet.

The executive committee has announced that this year the number of track contestants will be limited to the winners of the district meets, i. e. the winning team and the individual winners of first, second and third places. Hitherto, all schools desiring to do so might enter a track team of eight men, but on account of the increasing numbers of schools in the League, it has become necessary to limit entries.

Even with this limitation, it is stated, there will be a total of 864 official recognized delegates eligible for this state meet, as a result of the district elimination contests now being held. Included in this number will be 128 debaters and 250 contestants in the various divisions of declamation. There will be, also, 128 boys' and girls' tennis teams and 350 entrants in track. With the addition of about 250 teachers, representing as many schools, who are also included in the lists of official delegates, there will be more than eleven hundred delegates. Including parents, relatives and other unofficial delegates more than 2,000 people from outside of Austin are expected for the meet.

Lodging will be provided by the committee for all delegates, beginning on Thursday, May 5. Preliminaries in tennis will be held on Thursday afternoon, but no other preliminaries until Friday morning, so that no provision has been made for registration or lodging earlier than Thursday.

This will be the eleventh annual Inter-scholastic State Meet at the University, and promises to be the largest and most hotly contested ever held.

Schools holding full membership in the League now number 4,300, representing a fifteen per cent increase over last year.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Blufford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During... I was awfully weak... My pains were terrific... I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach... I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried... One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

The Woman's Tonic

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through... with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

The Belle of the Ball, Elinor Glyn, the novelist, was invited to the Mauretanian diplomat when a marvelously girl passed amid a group of young men. The diplomat nodded toward pretty girl and said dryly: "I'm afraid she's got a swell under a bushel." At this point the young girl herself into her deck chair, her knees in such a manner as play a very considerable exposure of silk stocking. "Nor her ankles under her" said Mrs. Glyn.

The Most Grateful Man On Earth Since Tanlac Did So Much For His Wife.

Another wonderful endorsement for that will be read with interest
the people of Arkansas was given
C. O. Farabee, of 822 Elm St., Rock, Ark.
Farabee, who is now retired from an active business life, was formerly a merchant and stock-dealer, and also holds extensive banking and insurance interests. His standing and reputation are too well known to require further comment.
It is certainly surprising," said Farabee, "that Tanlac could help me as much as it has, after suffering for so long a time without being able to get relief. Why, she had been in ill health for fifteen years.
Three months ago she had to undergo an operation for appendicitis,
being already in a weak condition and fear of her not being able to live. She had no appetite, couldn't eat her food properly and suffered from palpitation and shortness of breath. She had no strength and we could find nothing
to help her up.
One of her friends brought her a box of Tanlac about three weeks ago and she got out of the hospital, and certainly wonderful how she responded to this medicine. She kept taking the medicine and now has a good appetite, is looking after her work and her chickens and cow
like a healthy woman. She sleeps like a healthy woman and has more strength and energy than she had in many years.
Tell you I'm the most grateful man on earth since Tanlac has done so much for my wife."
Tanlac is sold in Hondo by W. H.
Brown, in Castroville by Joseph
Brown & Co., and in Dunlap by Louis
Brown; and by all leading druggists.

Western Star Officials Here.
Margaret L. Hosey, Worthy
Matron, of Fort Worth, Mrs.
Decker, District Deputy Grand
Worshipful, of Mission, and Mrs. Nettie Brown, Assistant Deputy Grand Major of Devine, were here Thursday for an official visit to the local Chapter of the Eastern Star. A luncheon was served in their honor at the Armstrong
Hotel Friday by members of the order.
Madame Hosey, Decker and Hessler accompanied by Mrs. F. S. Cock-

An Epic of Pioneer
Life

The Homesteader

By Robert J. C. Stead

It deals with conditions and the types of people — many of them from the United States—who settled the great farming areas of western Canada. It is filled with romance and adventure and covers a period from wilderness days almost to the present time. It will grip you with its thrill and hold you in its naturalness and fidelity to inhabitants
and environment.

Henry Brucks.
Henry Brucks was born in Holt-wick, Province of Westphalia, Germany, February 16, 1838. In 1845 he left his home with his parents, one brother (the late Judge B. Brucks), and two sisters (Mrs. Gertrude Sauter of D'Hanis and another who died enroute) to seek their fortune in America. Prior to sailing the intention of the elder Brucks had been to go to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he had a brother, but while waiting for passage at Bremen he was persuaded by one of Henry Castro's agents to take his family to Texas. After a long and tiresome voyage the vessel (Albertina), which was to have made the harbor at Corpus Christi, drifted to Port Lavaca,
where the landing was made.
The immigrants were now conveyed with ox-carts to San Antonio and later to Quilhi, which was Castro's latest settlement. While crossing the Medina river the Brucks family lost everything they had brought with them, and were thus left to the mercy of the rest of the colonists.
On the evening of March 2, 1846, the colonists drew numbers to decide upon the lots they were to occupy and the following day each family began work
on their own property.
At the age of ten Henry Brucks and his sister, Mrs. Sauter, went to San Antonio to seek work. They were employed by a Frenchman named Locke-meir, who had a hotel. Mr. Brucks, being very young, was given a job as bell boy. Shortly after, cholera broke out in San Antonio and the elder Brucks went to take his children home before they should contract the disease. He found the children in comfortable quarters so he started home without them.
Shortly after leaving the city he became sick and died before a physician could be reached. He was buried near the present Riomedina crossing on the San Antonio road. Henry Brucks also took the cholera but due to the immediate treatment of a physician he soon regained his normal health.
In 1855 Mr. Brucks, then 17 years of age, joined a company of Texas rangers with headquarters on the Salado.
He served his enlistment and later worked for the government as a teamster between San Antonio and Fort Clark. Later he served as U. S. mail guard between Eagle Pass and El Paso
for one year.
In 1859 he was married to Miss Alma Faseler. This union was blessed with three children, B. H. Brucks, Mrs.
Albertina Reitzer and John Brucks.
Mrs. Brucks and the son, John, died in 1863.
In the early 70's Mr. Brucks again joined the rangers under Capt. H.
Richarz, who was in command of Company E. Texas Frontier Forces. The headquarters of this company were at Fort Lange.
In 1873 he married Barbara K. Hartung. Four children were born to this union, Wilhelmina H., Maria H., August L. and Emil. Of these only one survives. He was again widowed in 1908.
After a sickness of nearly a month
Mr. Brucks departed this life on April 22, 1921.

In Memory of our Beloved Grandfather, Henry Brucks
Dead, yes dead, do we call him;
Grandfather, must this be you!
A flower faded and vanished,
A heart that was tender and true.
Gone, yes gone, he has left us,
Grandfather, forever we did part;
Joy or sorrow does always come,
Sorrow for us very hard.
True, yes true, he was to all,
Smiles forever upon his face,
Sorrowful we looked upon him,
E'er was given his resting place.
A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
Lonely the house and the home,
Since our dear one has gone;
But oh! a brighter home than ours
In Heaven is now his own.
Dearest Grandfather, thou hast left us
And our loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that has bereft us,
He can all our sorrows heal.
Left us! yes, forever more,
But we hope to meet our loved one,
On that bright and happy shore.

Jubilant Jubilee.
"Some years ago," says an American who used to live in London,
"before Queen Victoria's death and about the time the queen's jubilee was to be celebrated, there was overheard this conversation between two old Scotchwomen on a street corner:
'Can ye tell me, wumman, what is it they call a jubilee?'
'Weel, it's this,' said the other.
'When folk has been married twenty-five years, that's a silver wuddin';
and when they have been married
fifty years, that's a golden wuddin'.
But if the mon's dead then it's a jubilee.'"

Birth Rate of France Increases.
Vital statistics show that the birth rate increased in France in 1920. At Marseilles, for the first time in years,
the number of births greatly exceeded the number of deaths. At Chalonssur-Saone total of births for the year was 689 and that of deaths 520 only, whereas the figures for 1919 had been:
Births, 420, and deaths, 571. In Toulon the number of births exceeded by 118 that of deaths, something that has not happened in 30 years. From Orleans satisfactory figures have also been communicated and at Dieppe the number of births exceeded by 30 per cent the number of deaths.

REMEMBER to ask
your grocer for Cal-

Then forget about bake day failures. For you will never have any. Calumet always produces the sweet-

And now remember, you always use less than of most other brands because it possesses greater leavening strength.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

There is no waste. If a recipe calls for one egg—two cups of flour—half a cup of milk—that's all you use.
You never have to re-bake.
Contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities, is the product of the largest, most modern and sanitary Baking Powder Factories in existence.
Pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

THUS SINCE WORLD BEGAN
As Philosophers Have Said, Devious
Are the Ways to the Heart of a Maid.
Lo! there was once an artistic maiden who did things cleverly and wore bobbed hair and smocks. Her art was really very bad, nor the maiden unaware of it. She had three suits and she was sore perplexed until one day suitor No. 1 said, "I shall be frank. Your art is very bad, but I love you." She dismissed him.
Suitor No. 2 said, "Your art is very good."
The maiden said to him, "Prithee, sir, do you not agree with me that in places it is a bit—er—crude?"
He answered the maiden, "Now that you speak of it, I agree with you that in places it is a bit—er—crude." And she cast him forth from her father's threshold.
Suitor No. 3 spoke unto the maiden
in this wise: "Your art is perfect. It delights my soul. It is true art, without flaw, I love you."
The maiden knew in her heart that her lover lied and she straightaway married him.—Ruth O'Hanlon in Life.
